HAMILTON LOSES CLOSE MEET

Track Men Defeated by Three Points at Troy—R. P. I. Has Advantage in Field Events, Winning by the Score of 64–61.

ECKLER BREAKS RECORD

The Buff and Blue suffered defeat from the hands of the R. P. I track team last Saturday afternoon by three points. The day was ideal for breaking track records; one Hamilton record and one R. P. I. being bettered. The main reason for our defeat was our lack of winners for the second and third places. Out of a possible 14 first places, our team captured 8 and tied for 2. The heaviest scorer for R. P. I. was Shea, who gathered in 13 points for his team. For Hamilton, Eckler again showed his superiority in the weights, bringing home 11 points. Thompson came next with two firsts to his credit, while Holler and Pope each secured 8.

At the completion of the track events, Hamilton was leading by one point, but this advantage was lost in the field events. After winning the mile run, in which Hamilton took all three places, Thompson won the half-mile with a spectacular finish. Shea broke the R. P. I. record for the 440, passing the tape in 52 seconds. Captain Holler upheld his record in the sprints, taking second place in the 100–yard dash and first in the 220–yard race. Pope also took a first and second in the low hurdles and high hurdles respectively. Despite the fact that Van Hoesen was prohibited by doctor's orders to run, Hamilton won another first in the two–mile, due to the splendid running of Yates.

Eckler took first place in the shot put, beating his opponent's prodigious throw by five inches. Eckler's throw was 38 feet 10½ inches, the former Hamilton record having been 37 feet 1 inch. He also captured five points in the hammer throw. In the discus, two R. P. I. men bettered their record, winning the first two places. Reeder took first in the broad jump, while Kelly tied for first in the high jump with Morgan of R. P. I. The pole vault resulted in a triple tie, Warren being the only Hamilton man to take a place.

At the beginning of the meet, a large bulletin board was erected, telling the results of last year's Hamilton–R. P. I. meet. During the afternoon, 10 of the 13 records for firsts were surpassed. Until the completion of the last event, the outcome of the meet was in doubt.

The summary of the meet follows:

100–yard dash—Shea (R. P. I.). 1st; Holler (H), 2nd; Dyer (R. P.I.), 3rd. Time, 10:1.

120–yard high hurdles—Johnson (R. P. I.), 1st; Pope (H), 2nd. Time, 17:1.

TWO PLAYS OPEN LITTLE THEATRE

"The Glittering Gate" and "The Gods of the Mountain", Presented by Dramatic Interpretation Class, Please Three Audiences.

Prof. Fancher's class in Dramatic interpretation gave its first performance last Wednesday evening in the Little Theatre, presenting two of Lord Dunsany's plays: "The Glittering Gate" and "The Gods of the Mountain". The program was continued Thursday and Friday evenings before large audiences that filled every seat and showed by generous applause their appreciation of the performance.

This was the occasion of the opening of the Little Theatre. Prof. Fancher received the following telegram from Prof. Baker of Harvard:

Cambridge, Mass., May 21, 1921.
Prof. Paul A. Fancher, Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y.:

Best wishes from Forty–Seven Workshop for opening of Hamilton Theater. George H. Baker.

The first play presented was "The Glittering Gate", a drama containing only two characters. The scene was laid in the world of spirits, where two burglars, Jim and Bill, who had committed crimes together while on earth, met and renewed their acquaintance. Bill, the younger and more hopeful of the two, tried to pierce "The Glittering Gate". In spite of the forebodings of his gloomy friend, he succeeded in his attempt, finding not the heaven he had pictured but a desolate expanse of sky. The play ends with the despair of the two friends, thus disillusioned.

H. C. Smith played the difficult role of Bill with great ability, giving a fine characterization of the part. Clement G. Martin, as Jim, acquitted himself well, his heavy voice making itself peculiarly effective.

The second and more ambitious effort was the "Gods of the Mountain", in three acts. In the first act we see the chief square of an Oriental city. In the foreground are seated three beggars, Ulf, Oogno, and Thahn. As they commiserate each other on their ill–fortune, a fourth named Agma enters with his servant, Slag. The newcomer shows the others how they can pose as gods before the credulous inhabitants of the city, thus bettering

HAMILTON VICTORIOUS IN HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Defeats Rochester for Second Time This Season—Buff and Blue Leads Throughout Game—Gifford Holds Opponents Scoreless for Six Innings—Lawler and Warren Get Triples.

The Buff and Blue nine won from Rochester last Saturday by a score of 4–2. This was the first game that Rochester had played on University field. Hamilton took the lead in the first inning and maintained it throughout the game.

Two misjudged flies, one by Wagner and one by Boylan, and a hit by Campbell gave a lead of two runs to Hamilton in the first inning. A base on balls, a wild throw by Cahill, and a hit by Pritchard resulted in one more run for the Buff and Blue in the third. A hit, an error by Boylan, and a passed ball accounted for Hamilton's last score in the sixth frame.

Rochester was unable to score on Gifford until the seventh inning, when Boylan was hit by a pitched ball, and Peck reached first on an error. Wagner sacrificed and both runners scored on a double by Gleason.

Warren took Gifford's place after this rally and the next two men were put out on easy pop–flies. In the eighth Sullivan doubled after two were out, but Wallace, who substituted for Boylan, struck out. Warren hit the first man up in the ninth and Harris ran for him. Harris stole second, but to no avail for Warren struck out the next three men.

Warren and Lawler each slamed out a three–bagger.

CHARLATANS ACCEPT PLAY BY GRIFFITH, '21

Arrangements have been made for the Charlatans' program at Commanagement which will precede the Senior Ball on the night of June 17. Three one–act plays will be presented by the Club. All three plays are widely different both in theme and in setting.

"Suppressed Desires", which has been successfully played in Syracuse and Utica by The Charlatans this season, will be presented again at Commencement with the same cast.

The class in dramatic interpretation has been extended an invitation by The Charlatans to put on one of the plays which were so successfully produced at the opening of the Little Theatre on the Hill last week. "The Gods of the Mountains" will be the probable choice of the class.

The third play, "The Face in the Stone", was written by William M. Griffith, '21, president of The Charlatans. It is written as a sequel to Browning's "The Bishop Orders His Tomb". The scene of the tragedy is laid in Italy at the time of the Renaissance. No little interest has been aroused by the announcement of the production of a play by an undergraduate. The Charlatans have long awaited the opportunity of producing a play written by a student on the Hill, but hitherto no play was found suitable. Those who have been fortunate enough to read "The Face in the Stone" unite in praising it very highly, and predict an unqualified success for it.

Prize Speaking in the Chapel Wednesday, June 1, 8 p. m. Attendance compulsory for all classes.

—President Frederick C. Ferry spent the week-end in New Haven, Conn. He attended the Convention of the Association of Deans at Yale University.

COLLEGE SUPPORTS ROYAL GABOON

Competition for Places on Board of New Publication Waxes Warm—Business Staff Optimistic for Success.

WITS, GET BUSY!

Associate editors for the Commencement issue of the "Royal Gaboon" have been selected. Robert Mason, '22, and F. Winfield Smith, '22, are in charge of the department of jokes and puns; Walter C. Stone, '22, of verse and limericks; and Charles T. Keane, '22, of the short sketches. Editor-in-chief Mulford, '22, is taking charge of the cartoons and drawings. The permanent election of five men to the editorial staff will be made about the first of June, according to the quality and quantity of material submitted and used. Those who are competing for the art job will be judged on the same basis. One man will be elected art editor and the rest will compose the art staff. More men are wanted to try out for the position of assistant business manager. At elections in June, 1922, the one who receives the first nomination will be elected assistant business manager, the second will be assistant advertising manager and the third will be assistant circulation manager.

Next year the "Royal Gaboon" will make its appearance six times: at the Fall houseparties, the Union game, Christmas, Junior Prom, Spring houseparties and Commencement. All copy, including cartoons and drawings, for the first issue, which will appear at Commencement, should be submitted to Editor Mulford before May 28.

Plans are being made to sell between one thousand and twelve hundred copies of the first number. Three hundred will be sold to the undergraduates, and about the same number to the alumni. About six hundred copies will be placed upon newsstands in Utica and vicinity. With this circulation promised, advertisements have been readily acquired. The Commencement number will be out June 10.

The paper will be nine by twelve inches in size, and will contain from thirty-two to thirty-six pages. The cover will be in three colors, and a very clever drawing has been submitted which is sure to score a "hit." From twenty-five to thirty cuts, both of cartoons and full-page drawings, will be run.

In regard to the material which has thus far been submitted, Editor Mulford wishes to announce that no jokes of a local character will be printed. It is desired that only material of a cosmopolitan nature be used, because the paper will be sold to many people who will not be able to appreciate humor of merely local application. The college has thus far responded very well to the call for original jokes and verses, but more are wanted. Those who have humorous college publications in their possession, which could be of use to the editor, are requested to lend them to members of the staff. Their careful preservation and safe return are promised.

The printing is in the hands of Griffith of Utica.

—All alumni should read Life.

THE NEW LIT

According to present plans there will be several changes in the style of Lit for next year. The size will be increased to 8½ by 10½ inches, or nearly the size of Life. Edward Root, '05, has promised a new cover design. The contents will comprise more short stories and humorous sketches, with an Alumni Page, and a short resume of events on the Hill during the preceding month. Along with the humorous section, which will include several articles, will be the joke column, running through the advertising section. Leaving out the more serious and less interesting essays will undoubtedly make Lit a more appealing and popular publication.

BRING HAMLIN HOME IS COMMITTEE'S PLEA

Undergraduates Must Pay Pledges at Once to Raise Money for Return of Missionary

The college remained after chapel last Tuesday morning to listen to an appeal for the Hamilton-in-China fund. John D. VanKennen, '21, chairman of the committee, stated that there is nearly $600 in pledges which has not yet been paid. Paul M. Hamlin, '19, who is our representative, and whom we promised to support, has been forced to borrow money in the last few months because undergraduates have neglected to pay their pledges. In order that Hamlin might be temporarily supplied with funds the student committee has been obliged to borrow $300 and send it to China.

Dr. Frank H. Wood also spoke a few words regarding this matter. He recently received a letter from Hamlin which was written from the hospital. At the time of writing Hamlin was just recovering from an operation for appendicitis. This news comes as a surprise to the college for no one had been aware of his sickness.

Mr. Hamlin expects to leave for America about July 23rd. The long time required for mail to reach China makes it imperative that all money be collected before the last of May. The fellows are honor-bound to make the Hamilton-in-China effort a success. The committee hopes that the money may be collected as soon as possible in order that no debts may be incurred.

CHANGE IN ART COURSE

Next year there will be a change in the course in Greek and Roman Art due to the absence of Prof. Chase, who will take a year's vacation to study and travel abroad. They will be modified as follows:

Greek and Roman Life, Prof. Fitch, Prof. Durham.

1-2, the Civilization of Greece and Rome. Grecian Architecture, Sculpture and Painting. Art and poetry as an expression of Greek life. Masterpieces of poetry in English translation. The use of a text book will be supplemented by illustrative material and collateral reading. First semester. Second semester until Easter, a brief survey of Roman civilization, Rome's contribution to the world in literature, art, law and government. A considerable amount of reading in English will be required, supplemented by lectures. Second semester completed.

Pay Up!

A few weeks ago the class of 1922, through certain of its number delegated for that purpose, brought out the annual issue of the Hamiltonian. Nearly every member of the undergraduate body has to date agreed that this issue is without doubt the best ever seen on the Hill. It ought to be, and for several reasons. In the first place, it cost just about twice as much as the year-book has cost in other years, and that increased cost was not due entirely to the general increase in prices. When the board met for organization last fall, it decided that the college had been represented by a mediocre book long enough. It decided not to be bound by the methods employed by past Hamiltonian boards, but to profit by the experience of others, wherever results showed a method worthy of imitation, and to carry out ideas of their own which seemed at the time of value.

The book is out, and has been pretty well supported by the undergraduates. But it must be remarked here and now that there are a considerable number of men who have neither subscribed to the Hamiltonian, nor paid the tax which each of the three non-participating classes voted to help pay for the book. When the business staff was figuring costs it was found possible to put out a good book, a book that each of us would be proud to show his friends, if every man in college bought a copy—the Juniors always buy two—and if a certain amount of advertising could be obtained. The advertising was obtained, but money from a source counted as certain, failed to be granted. To relieve the Juniors from a part of the burden of their already high tax was the purpose of the comparatively small tax each of the other classes voted. If all men in college do not buy books, and if a part of these taxes is not collected, the Juniors will have to raise the rest. They can do it, of course, but it will mean that the college has forfeited the confidence of next year's business staff, and a poorer Hamiltonian will inevitably be the result. It is easy to put out a poor, cheap Hamiltonian, but who wants such a book? Are you going to assume your fair share of the burden—for the Hamiltonian belongs to the rest of the college as much as it does to the Juniors—or are you going to back out?

COLGATE TRIMS TENNIS TEAM

Paton, Back on Team for First Time This Year, Only Hamilton Man To Defeat Opponent.

The Buff and Blue tennis team suffered another defeat at the hands of the Colgate racquet-wielders last Saturday at Hamilton. Paton, who has taken the place of Getman on the team, was the only man from the Hill who emerged victorious from the fray on the courts. He outclassed his opponent in steady playing and won by the scores of 6–2 and 7–5.

Acebron kept Rockefeller on his toes during the first set, but lost by a score of 10–8 after having obtained an encouraging lead. Rockefeller outplayed his opponent in the second set and easily won a love set.

The doubles were hard fought, but Hamilton lacked the necessary skill to secure victory. The games, contrary to the inference that would be drawn from the scores, were very close and Colgate's victories were gained only by very small margins.

The scores of the sets are as follows:

Singles

Young (C) defeated Coupe (H), 6–4, 6–3.

Blanchard (C) defeated Barron (H), 6–1, 6–3.

Paton (H) defeated Hart (C), 6–2, 7–5.

Rockefeller (C) defeated Acebron (H), 10–8, 6–0.

Doubles

Young and Rockefeller (C) defeated Coupe and Paton (H), 6–4, 6–3.

Blanchard and Benjamin (C) defeated Barron and Acebron (H), 6–1, 1–6, 6–3.

The next match will be played with Syracuse on the opponents' courts tomorrow.

—John G. Reid, '21, returned to college last week after an absence of over six weeks. Mr. Reid was stricken with scarlet fever during Easter recess and barely missed losing out on his last term's work as a Senior.

COLGATE WINS IN BASEBALL

Freaky Game Ends in Score of 14–9 —Cowan Brings in Two by a Home Run—Davis Makes Passed Ball Good for the Circuit.

PRITCHARD STARS

Hamilton lost its second game of baseball with Colgate last Wednesday afternoon, when the Maroon team pounded out a 14 to 9 victory on the home field. Until the second inning it looked as though it were going to be a fast game, but it was in this frame that the Buff and Blue sent five men across the plate. In this inning Pritchard walked, Lawler was hit by a pitched ball, advancing Pritchard to second, May sacrificed, sending Pritchard and Lawler ahead one base, Davis hit to Leonard who threw home, catching Pritchard at the plate. Cowan hit to deep center for a home run, and sent Lawler and Davis in ahead of him. Gifford was hit by a pitched ball, and went home when Hunter tripled to center. Hunter scored when Herman let a ball go past him. Campbell ended the inning by striking out.

Colgate got three runs in the first of the third on three hits and an error. Colgate got one run in the fifth. In the fourth the Maroon got four more runs on two errors, a hit, a base on balls, and a man hit by the pitcher. Further scoring in this inning was prevented when Hunter made a shoe-string catch of an infield fly and threw to Campbell for a double play. After the second inning Colgate scored in every inning except the seventh, when Warren struck out three men.

Hamilton's other runs came in the seventh and the ninth innings. In the seventh Warren got on base on an error, Hunter walked, Campbell singled, filling the bases, Pritchard singled to right, scoring Warren and Hunter. In the ninth Pritchard scored after being walked, when an error by O'Connor at second let the ball go into center field. It was in this inning that Davis scored after three strikes had been called on him. The third strike became a passed ball and before the ball could be found he was able to take four bases.

Barnes, who relieved Leonard in the box, was very effective in the pinches. He struck out ten men. Pritchard played the best ball for Hamilton, with seven put-outs and a throw home which caught Schlenger trying to reach home on a sacrifice. He also excelled at bat, getting two hits out of three times up.

The line-up and summary follows:

their condition materially. The act ends with the formation of the plan.

In the second act, the beggars are seated in places of honor, seven rascals posing as the seven gods of Mara. The inhabitants worship them, and yet their suspicions are aroused by the eagerness with which the supposed gods eat and drink. Agma, alone refraining from food, lulls their suspicions. After the citizens' departure he, too, takes food.

The beginning of the third act finds the beggars terrified by the news that they are about to be discovered. One of the seven, known as the Thief, has heard that messengers will soon return from Mara bringing the information that the gods are still there, and that the beggars are imposters. The beggars are terrified, but soon regain their courage when they find that the real gods cannot be found. At the last moment the imposters are turned to stone through fright aroused by the passage of the real gods of Mara.

The cast was well-balanced, the actors showing themselves to be perfectly at home in their various roles. Pope, Getman, and Turner gave clever characterizations. Spice as Agma and Smith as Slag gave very satisfactory performancces of difficult parts. The production was well staged, the lighting effects being very effective, and worthy of the high standards set in the best amateur threatres of the country.

The cast of "The Gods of the Mountain" follows: Agma, William H. Spice, Jr.; Slag, H. C. Smith; Ulf, Damon L. Getman; Oogno, Thomas B. Pope; Thahn, Robert E. Turner; Mlan, Norman R. Baker; A Thief, Albert L. Kaiser; Oorander, Theodoric Westbrook; Illanaum, Clement G. Martin; Akenos, W. T. Howland; Dromedary Men, C. Culver, F. Hinke; Gods of the Mountain, William B. Baer, Thyril L. Ladd, Donald D. Kittell.

MUSICAL CLUBS CHARMS

At a meeting of the Musical Clubs held after chapel last Saturday morning, Manager Barron announced the names of the men who are entitled to wear charms. The men are as follows: King, Lighthall, Davison, '21; Hallock, Miller, Ramsburg, '22; Palmer, North, '23; Bates, Riedel, Moore, Kittel, Vines, '24. The other members of the Musical Clubs earned the right to wear the charm in previous seasons. At the suggestion of Manager Barron the men voted to award charms to Richard G. Raitt and Carlyle E. Yates, '23. These two men, as competitors for the position of assistant manager, have worked conscientiously during the past season.

CHANGES IN COURSES

The following changes have been made in the curriculum since the catalog for 1920–21 was issued:

Greek and Roman Art 1–2 will not be offered in 1921–22.

Greek and Roman Life 1–2 is offered to Seniors instead of Greek and Roman Art 1–2.

Comparative Philology 1–2 one hour a week is offered to Juniors and Seniors without any college credit.

Italian 1–2 is restricted to Seniors only.

Italian 3–4 is withdrawn.

English Composition 5–6 is restricted to those whose grade in 3–4 is at least 80 per cent.

English Literature 3–4 is withdrawn.

English Literature 11–12 (American Literature—Modern Literature) is offered to Juniors (prerequisite 1–2).

Philosophy 7–8 is restricted to Juniors, and the 9–10 course will not be offered.

Political Science 6–8 will count as two continuous year-courses, and are not to be elected separately.

Law 5 (The Elements of Law) is changed to Law 5 (Elementary Sociology). It is coupled with Economics as at present.

Geology 7–8 is withdrawn and 5–6 is a laboratory course.

Carpe Diem

"Measles" Chastney pulled a good one on our art prof., Edward Root, the other day. Chas was perambulating down the Hill, and when he came to the arbor he saw a Chi Psi-ish looking person fixing its shoe. Chas immediately wallopel him fraternally and remarked, "How the hell are you, Fred?" Whereupon the figure straightened up and—Chas had met Ed. Root. He states that he does not intend to elect Art 1 next year.

Another conundrum this week, "Why is a musical comedy like a modern song?". Ans. Because everyone is interested mostly in the chorus.

Miscellaneous Ramblings

Last week one of the Sigs got a letter addressed "———,care Miss Roberts' Finishing School for Boys, Clinton, N. Y." Who said the Sigs didn't have a good line?

When is the Managers' Eating Club going to hold forth again? Better get going, boys—the multiplication of hand-downs is slowing up.

Art Doyle is attending chapel regularly now that the Seniors' caps and gowns have come.

When Hank Smith with his stentorian he-haw becomes the tea goddess of an erstwhile Jupiter in Fancher's Dramatics, you san easily tell what nourishment and the Department will do for a man.

Looking around for signs of the times, how does the scarlet tam-o-shanter which Tub Hall wears in such a fiendish Bohemian manner appeal to you?

We sort of miss Shim Moffatt in Spice o' Life, so we'll add one for him: Shimmey Sam sez, "The Pacific Ocean isn't really any larger than the Atlantic, only there's less land in it."

With the Colleges

—The seniors of Princeton University have donned their famous "beer suits" for the remainder of the college year. These outfits consist of white overalls, black caps with long visors, and white coats. On the left coat sleeve, the seniors wear three black chevrons in commemoration of the eighteen months of very dry beer.

—Tom Keane, who has turned green material into winners of track events for Syracuse during the last fifteen years, has recently received an offer of a $1,500 increase over his present salary by Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. Coach Keane sent three men to the Olympic meet last year. They were Charles Reidpath, Alan Woodring, and "Bill" Horr. It is expected that Syracuse will recognize that it cannot afford to lose Mr. Keane.

—Samuel G. Tracy, '87, is living at 240 W. 102nd St., New York City. After receiving his B.S. degree from Hamilton, Mr. Tracy studied medicine in the Bellevue Hospital Medical College (N. Y. University) from which he was graduated in 1890. He served as a New York State Examiner in lunacy. Mr. Tracy has always been interested in the electrical side of medicine. He invented the Electrophone which enables the deaf to hear. Immediately after radium was discovered, he began to study it carefully, thus being able to write a valuable paper on Radium and Radioactivity.

"THE PLIGHT OF THE UNFAIR SEX"

In the June issue of the Collegiate World appears the article, "The Plight of the Unfair Sex", by Paul H. Bixler, '22. This article is illustrated by a cartoon by Paul Pheley in the Sun Dial. With the exception of two jokes which were printed from Life a year ago, this is the first contribution from Hamilton printed in the Collegiate World.

"Bix" writes, in a humorous vein, a treatise on the 'woman' question. He complains of the fair sex entering into what were formerly known as purely male recreations, such as smoking. He issues a call to all men to unite against the great invasion.

Paul Bixler has written many humorous articles for the 1922 Hamiltonian. One can but wonder that 'one small head can' conceive such a lot of foolishness.

—Every loyal alumnus should subscribe for Hamilton Life.

A COMMUNICATION

Editor of Life:

It has been a Hamilton tradition to share the facilities that the Hill affords. This spring there has been a noticeable neglect of this custom, if playing singles, for the players to invite those waiting, to double with them. They might even stop, after one set of singles. Now, those who have the courts will play two or three sets of doubles, and very often, singles, without inviting anyone else to play. Why not have a little more sharing of the courts so that everyone may get the benefit of them, few as they are?

Also, as a matter of tennis etiquette, it is not considered courteous when a match is being played to move along the sidelines, to gather about the umpire, nor to sit near the courts. These acts all distract the players, who should have every opportunity for concentration possible.

Hamilton's name for good sportsmanship should not be marred, and these suggestions may help.
